

Promote Real Trade & Industry

Trade and the Islamic world are closely intertwined, because trade was one of the main channels through which Islam spread across the world. Islam encourages people towards trade and commerce. The Prophet ﷺ said: “Hold fast to commerce (al-tijara) for indeed it constitutes nine tenths of sustenance (al-rizq).” (Itḥaf 6:254)

The Holy Quran provides regulations regarding fair dealing among people, condemns the charging of interest on loans and sets out clear provisions for contract law. These universal principles resulted in the phenomenal growth of Islamic world that lay at the centre of many overlapping Afro-Eurasian trade zones.
