

Economic Stability & Growth

Implementing socio-economic justice is one of the most important teachings of Islam, which allows societies to develop homogenously and with equitable distribution of wealth and resources. The same concept also extends to buying and selling, where Islam prohibits speculative trade. In this way Islam encourages economic stability by preventing unjust price inflation and artificial price bubbles. It was narrated that Hakim bin Hizam رضي الله عنه said: “I said: 'O Messenger of Allah ﷺ, a man is asking me to sell him something that I do not possess (Short-selling); Shall I sell it to him?' He ﷺ said: 'Do not sell what is not in your possession.’” (Sunan Ibn Majah:2187)
